MOTION TO DISMISS,
MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES IN OPPOSITION

Time: 11:15 AM
Dept: Courtroom 9
Judge: Hon. Larry Alan Burns

16
17 PLAINTIFF'S RESPONSE IN OPPOSITION TO MOTION TO DISMISS

18 Plaintiff Rong Dong Li (hereinafter "Li" or "Plaintiff") opposes the motion ("Motion") 19 to dismiss his Complaint filed by Defendant Akal Security Inc. ("Defendant"). The 20 reason for the opposition is that the Complaint has met the standards enumerated under 21 Rule 8 (a)(2), Rule 9(b) and other relevant rules of the Federal Rule of Civil Procedure
22 ("F.R.C.P.") and relevant case law.

23 The Motion should be dismissed because Plaintiff's Complaint has stated facts 24 sufficient to constitute the causes of action.

25 1. The First Cause of Action for assault has stated sufficient fact to constitute a 26 claim upon which relief can be granted.

1 2. The Second Cause of Action for battery is certain and has stated sufficient fact to 2 constitute a claim upon which relief can be granted.

3 3. The Third Cause of Action for intentional infliction of emotional distress is certain 4 and has stated sufficient fact to constitute a claim upon which relief can be 5 granted.

6 4. The Fourth Cause of Action for negligent infliction of emotional distress is certain 7 and has stated sufficient fact to constitute a claim upon which relief can be 8 granted.

9 5. The Fifth Cause of Action for racial and national origin discrimination is certain 10 and has stated sufficient fact to constitute a claim upon which relief can be 11 granted.

12 Should the Court find any merits with Defendants' Motion, Plaintiff respectfully 13 requests that the Court allows him a reasonable opportunity to amend his Complaint.

14 Dated: January 9, 2011

15 Respectfully submitted,

MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

“A pleading which sets forth a claim for relief must contain:

(2) a short and plain statement of the claim showing that the pleader is entitled to relief." F.R. C. P 8(a)(2).

5 A “complaint requires only a short and plain statement of the claim showing that 6 the pleader is entitled to relief, in order to give the defendant fair notice of what the ...
7 claim is and the grounds upon which it rests.” Bell Atlantic Corp. V. Twombly, 550 U.S.
8 544, 555 (2007).

9 In determining whether a complaint fails to state a claim upon which relief may be 10 granted, generally a court “must accept as true all of the factual allegations contained in 11 the complaint,” Rickson v. Pardus, 551 U.S. 89 (2007).

12 “Unless an original complaint shows on its face that it is incapable of 13 amendment, denial of leave to amend constitutes an abuse of discretion, irrespective of 14 whether leave to amend is requested.” King v. Mortimer, 83 CA 2d 153 (1981).

A. There Are Sufficient Allegations in the Complaint to Support the First and Second Causes of Action for Assault and Battery.

17 Paragraphs 8 through 15 laid out the facts of the matter in particular why 18 Defendant is liable for the assault and battery. While Plaintiff could have added the 19 security guard as a defendant and alleged more facts showing liability on the part of the 20 Defendant as a respondeat superior, the complaint as it is currently drafted is clear as to 21 why Defendant is liable for the assault and battery.

22 Even though Defendant Akal and its employed security guards did not commit the 23 actual assault and battery, they had a duty to protect the safety of the plaintiff in the 24 detention center where persons such as Plaintiff relied upon them for security of their 25 body and mind. Liability arose because of their failure and refusal to protect the Plaintiff, 26 and its acquiescence and/or encouragement of the brutal attack on the plaintiff.

1 A prison official may be held liable under the Eighth Amendment for acting with 2 "deliberate indifference" to inmate health or safety only if he knows that inmates face a 3 substantial risk of serious harm and disregards that risk by failing to take reasonable 4 measures to abate it. Farmer v. Brennan, 511 U.S. 825 (1994).

5 Here, Defendant and/or its employees in the detention center clearly knew of the 6 violent propensity of John Doe One, who had just engaged in a violent act; however, 7 Defendant's employees released him to the general public without taking any 8 reasonable measures of ensuring the safety of the plaintiff and the general public in the 9 detention center from this individual; furthermore, Defendant deliberately failed to 10 intervene in the vicious attack. Plaintiff cried out aloud for help; however, no guards 11 showed during the several minutes' of brutal attack while normally the guards would 12 respond to a similar situation within seconds.

13 Defendant argued that there was no allegation that "Akal or any employee of Akal 14 was even present when the alleged attack took place" (Lines 18 and 19 of Page 6, 15 Defendant's Motion). Plaintiff did not need to allege that Akal or its employees were 16 present when the attack took place. All Plaintiff needed to do in the complaint and 17 indeed has done so is to allege that Akal and/or its employees were not present to 18 protect him while the attack took place.

19 Accordingly, Plaintiff has stated sufficient facts to state a claim upon which relief 20 could be granted.

B. Plaintiff has stated extreme and outrageous conduct on the part of Defendant for Intentional Infliction of Emotional Distress (“IIED”).

Under California law, the elements for the tort of intentional infliction of emotional distress are: 1) extreme and outrageous conduct by the defendant with the intention of causing, or reckless disregard of the probability of causing, emotional distress; 2) the plaintiff's suffering severe or extreme emotional distress; and 3) actual and proximate

1 causation of the emotional distress by the defendant's outrageous conduct. Christensen
2 v. Superior Court, 54 Cal.3d 868, 903 (1991). To be outrageous, the conduct must be 3 so extreme as to exceed all bounds of that usually tolerated in a civilized society. Id. at 4 903.

5 Here in our case, Defendant had a duty to protect the safety of the plaintiff in its 6 custody; however, Defendant deliberately and recklessly failed to protect him from the 7 vicious attack from John Doe One who was known to have engaged in violent acts 8 earlier during the day. The plaintiff suffered serious harm to his body and mind, and 9 Defendant's failure and deliberate indifference to his safety is the actual and proximate 10 causation of the emotional distress. Therefore, Plaintiff has stated sufficient facts for the 11 Third Cause of Action for Intentional Infliction of Emotional Distress.

12 C. Plaintiff Has Stated Sufficient Facts to Satisfy the Legal Elements of 13 Negligent Infliction of Emotional Distress

14 To bring a cause of action for negligent infliction of emotional distress, a plaintiff 15 must prove: 1) that Defendant was negligent; 2) that plaintiff suffered serious emotional 16 distress and 3) that Defendant's negligence was a substantial factor in causing the 17 plaintiff's serious emotional distress. Marlene F. v. Affiliated Psychiatric Medical Clinic, 18 Inc. 48 Cal.3d 583 (1989). Here, Paragraphs 8 through 15 laid out the facts to show that 19 1) Defendant was negligent in failure to protect the plaintiff from the vicious and brutal 20 attacks from Defendant John Doe One; 2) that Plaintiff suffered serious bodily injuries 21 and mental distress and 3) that Defendant's negligence in failure to protect him was a 22 substantial factor in causing him the serious emotional distress. Again, the elements of 23 negligent infliction of emotional distress were clearly met.

24 D. Plaintiff Has Stated A Claim in His Fifth Cause of Action for Racial 25 and National Origin Discrimination

26 Again, Paragraphs 8 through 15, and 41 through 45 of the Complaint laid out 27

1 facts for the Fifth Cause of Action for Racial and National Origin Discrimination.

2 Defendant argues that the law does not allow a federal detainee to recover for 3 violations of his constitutional rights by employees of a private corporation, acting under 4 the color of law. The Defendant cited Correctional Services Corp. v. Malesko, 534 U.S.
5 at 63 and 66 and Pollard v. Geo Group, Inc., 607 F. 3d 583 (2010). However, a careful 6 reading of Malesko shows that Malesko does not categorically prohibit a private cause of 7 action for violations of constitutional rights against federal agents as first recognized in 8 Bivens v. Six Unknown Named Agents of Federal Bureau of Narcotics, 403 U.S. 388 9 (1971), be extended to private corporations. The Court has extended at least twice to 10 provide an otherwise nonexistent cause of action against individual officers alleged to 11 have acted unconstitutionally, or to provide a cause of action for a plaintiff who lacked 12 any alternative remedy for his harms caused by an individual officer's constitutional 13 conduct. Malesko, supra. A careful reading of Pollard shows, contrary to the 14 Defendant's argument, that the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals actually allowed a Biven 15 type of lawsuit to go forward against a private corporation acting under the color of 16 federal law. Pollard, supra. Pollard, a federal inmate, appeals the district court's order 17 dismissing his Eighth Amendment claims against employees of a private corporation
18 operating a federal prison under contract with the Bureau of Prisons. The Court 19 specifically stated the following in its decision:

20 "This appeal presents the question of whether the implied damages action first 21 recognized in Bivens v. Six Unknown Named Agents of Federal Bureau of Narcotics, 22 403 U.S. 388, 91 S. Ct. 1999, 29 L.Ed.2d 619 (1971), allows a federal prisoner to 23 recover for violations of his constitutional rights by employees of private corporations 24 operating federal prisons. We conclude it does." Pollard at 585. To rule otherwise, all 25 the federal government needs to do to escape liability for violations of constitutional 26 rights of prisoners is to contract with private corporations to run the prisons. That's not 27
28

1 what the Bivens's Court contemplated and clearly against public policy.

E. Plaintiff Has Stated Sufficient Facts to Warrant the Award of Punitive Damages and Attorneys Fees

4 The complaint has stated sufficient facts for the award of punitive damages for 5 the first four causes of action because of the intentional and reckless conduct of the 6 defendant and for attorneys' fees for the fifth cause of action for racial and national 7 origin discrimination.

F. Conclusion

9 For all the reasons stated above, Plaintiff respectfully requests that the Motion to 10 Dismiss be overruled and dismissed as to all causes of action.

G. Alternative Request for Leave to Amend the Complaint

12 Liberality in permitting amendment is the rule, if a fair opportunity to correct any 13 defect has not been given. Angie M. v. Sup. Ct., (Hiemstra) (1995) 37 CA 4th 1217, 14 1227, 44 CR2d 197, 204. Should the Court find any merits with Defendants' Motion to 15 dismiss on any of the causes of action, Plaintiff respectfully requests that Plaintiff be 16 allowed leave to amend the Complaint since he has not been given any opportunity to 17 amend his Complaint.
